German Efforts to Advance Near Ypres Foiled, Paris Claims

PARIS, May 4.—Desperate efforts by the Germans to advance north of Ypres have failed. The British forces repulsed a night attack on May 3, inflicting heavy losses.

It is apparent that the attack started on Sunday is to be continued by the Germans, despite their reported repulse and the frightful losses they are sustaining.

Unofficial reports from the front say that the poisonous gas thrown in specially constructed shells by the Germans have in many cases been blown back on the enemy's trenches by the wind.

The official communique today dismisses the situation with the inconceivable comment that the British have repulsed night attacks. It is also stated that the French offensive in the Argonne is continuing successfully, an advance having been made in yesterday's engagements.

Mrs. Stubbs Here to Aid Suffragist Convention

To help prepare for the convention of the Congressional Union for Women Suffrage, which is to be held at the Biltmore Hotel, May 12, and to take part in the program, Mrs. Jessie Hardy Stubbs, one of the most active workers of the organization, arrived in Washington today from New York, where she has been campaigning during the past month.

Mrs. Stubbs was one of the leaders of the delegation of 100 women who last week called on Senator O'Gorman in New York.

The purpose of the convention to be held on May 12 is to organize in the District a branch of the Congressional Union to correspond to the State organizations. Officers will be chosen at this meeting, and a list of names adopted. The sessions will be followed by a banquet to which all the Congressional Union members in the District are invited, after which a suffragist play, written especially for the occasion by Miss Hazel McKay, and entitled "In Defense of a Mother," will be presented.

JUDGES TO SELECT TIMES BEAUTY BY ELIMINATION TEST

Hundreds of Photographs Submitted in Contest Listed for Preliminary Inspection.

DECISION WILL BE FINAL

Verdict Will Be Handed Down in Ample Time for Winner to Arrange for Coast Trip.

Hundreds of photographs submitted in The Times beauty contest, which closed at noon yesterday, are being listed today for presentation to the judges who will meet later in the week for a preliminary inspection of the contestants who desire to represent the Capital in the nation-wide beauty competition.

Although the plans of the judges are not known in advance of the announcement of their identity and their preliminary meeting, it is assumed that the judges gradually will eliminate the contestants until only a half dozen or dozen remain and an attempt then will be made to get a unanimous verdict on the most beautiful of the survivors.

The decision of the judges, with which The Times will have nothing to do, will be final, and this newspaper will award the free journey to the Pacific coast and the San Diego and San Francisco expositions to the girl declared by the judges to be the most beautiful among those whose photographs were entered.

Will Be Returned.
The photographs are being listed in order that they may be promptly returned to their owners after the contest. It is unnecessary for nominators to remind the Beauty Editor again that they desire the return of the photographs. An effort will be made to send back the many pictures submitted within a day or two after the judges have made known their decision.

This decision is expected in ample time to afford the winner an opportunity to arrange her affairs for an extended absence from Washington. The trip to and from the Pacific slope will take nearly a month, and the beauty party, comprising winners sent by newspapers in all sections of the United States, will have a delightful journey throughout.

The Times probably will publish tomorrow another page of photographs entered in the contest. There will be still another published before the judges' decision is announced, but even with the publication of these pages, and the number of photographs sent in to fill a dozen "beauty pages."

It was impossible to print all of the pictures sent in. In the closing hours of the contest yesterday a sufficient number of photographs were sent in to fill a dozen "beauty pages."

MRS. CARMAN WINS EX-JUSTICE'S HELP

Former Witness for State Will Testify in Behalf of Woman Accused of Murder.

MINEOLA, L. I., May 4.—Extremely slow progress was made today in getting jurors for the second trial of Mrs. Florence Carman, charged with the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey. Twelve men had been examined before luncheon and none of them accepted.

Mrs. Carman was dressed the same today as on yesterday with the exception that she wore no face veil. She donned a pair of eyeglasses during the early proceedings.

Attorney George M. Levy, Mrs. Carman's chief counsel, admitted today that Archie V. Wallace, a former justice of the peace at Freeport, who was a witness for the State at the first trial, is now aligned with the defense. Wallace's name was on the new list of talesmen drawn yesterday and he was the second to be examined today. District Attorney Smith objected as soon as Wallace was called.

Fence Pickets Torn Off.
Wallace, it is understood, will substantiate the testimony of Platt Conklin, Mrs. Carman's father, at this trial. Conklin's testimony at the first trial was to the effect that when he went to the "Carman" house immediately after the murder he noticed that several pickets on the fence had been torn off and that the ground around it was trampled.

This testimony was offered to prove the claim that Mrs. Bailey's murderer fled through the yard after the murder. It will be no square-jawed jury that determines the beautiful Freeport society woman's guilt or innocence. Court attaches today commented on the fact that both Mrs. Carman and her attorney, George M. Levy, obviously favor the emotional type in the process of examining talesmen.

To each of the five jurors accepted on the first day of the trial the final question put by the defense was "Will you give this woman here charged with murder the same consideration you would give your own wife or mother under the same circumstances?"

Breakfast In Jail.

Mrs. Carman, who for the first time since her release on bail last fall, spent a night behind prison bars, arose early this morning and took breakfast in the Nassau county jail with her attorney, who remained overnight at a Mineola hotel. There was plenty of color on her cheeks and she said she had slept almost as well as if she had been at home.

"It is so different this time," she smiled. "I know that I shall be acquitted and there are none of the little worries I had at the first trial. I wouldn't mind spending these few nights here with the sheriff if it weren't for my little girl."

Wants Real Work.

With business-like, unfurled steadiness, in marked contrast to the fevered excitement of the former proceedings, the first day of the second trial of Mrs. Carman plainly impressed both the defendant and her supporters with the deadly seriousness of the battle which has just begun.

There was a very crisp, come-down-to-brass-tacks justice, who insisted that each side devote itself to the day's business of selecting a jury.
There was only one hint of a coming surprise when Mrs. Carman, whether that played a part in diminishing her confidence cannot be said. It was hinted that new witnesses will testify that in shooting into Mrs. Bailey's house took place not about 8 o'clock, as heretofore supposed, but an hour earlier, when a figure standing at the window would have been plainly visible.
The significance of this new story lies in its implication that the Carman household waited two hours before telling of the tragedy.

There was one other point for Mrs. Carman.

GERARD REPORTS ON GERMAN REPRISALS

Kaiser to Treat English Captives Precisely as Britain Treat Submarine Crews.

LONDON, May 4.—As soon as Ambassador Gerard formally reports to the German government concerning the exact treatment accorded captured crews of German submarines, the German government proposes to grant precisely the same privileges to the segregated British prisoners chosen as those upon whom the Kaiser's government purposes to retaliate for any ill treatment to submarine crews.

This was explained in a report from Ambassador Gerard formally transmitted to Sir Edward Grey today by Ambassador Page. The American ambassador at Berlin detailed his inspection at the camps of those Britishers selected by the Germans for retaliation. He saw twenty-two of the thirty-nine officers thus imprisoned at Burg and Magedeburg. Every one, he reported, had a clean cell and was allowed bath, books, smoking privileges, receipt of mail packages, and daily exercise. The ambassador said they were given good food.

The Gerard report is expected to shed a shadow as early as possible upon Ambassador Page to the detention prisons where the British government has installed its solitary confinement, so that he may make it plain to Germany, through Gerard, that the British are not submitting the Germans to unusual rigors. Gerard made it plain that the moment Germany receives assurance her submarine crews are treated as ordinary prisoners of war in England, she will so treat all British now held.

Apparently, from Gerard's report, the main hardship on the segregated prisoners is solitary confinement. The German government explains, the ambassador added, that their treatment is exact as such as accorded German officers held under arrest for court-martial.

Talk to Children on City Garden and Lawn
Appealing to them as little men and little women who can achieve great results in beautifying southwest Washington by applying themselves, O. H. Benson, of the United States Department of Agriculture, met a hearty response from the large audience of school children who heard him last night in the Fifth Baptist Church.

"City gardens and city lawns," made by children, were illustrated with colored slides. The meeting was held under the auspices of the social studies hour committee of the Mothers' Congress.

Asked to Consider Rates On U. S. Stamped Envelope
Second Assistant Postmaster General Stewart asked the Interstate Commerce Commission today to consider railroad rates on Government stamped envelopes, which he declared were excessive in all territories.

Exact descriptions of goods are asked for in handwriting on the stamped envelope. Where practicable, the full name and address of the consignee should be given. The fact is emphasized in the statement that the right of visit and search is not waived.

MAY CALL HIS WIFE CHICKEN, SAYS COURT

"Especially If She Is Approaching Old Hen Age," He Adds.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 4.—A man has a right to call his wife a chicken, Police Judge Hogan ruled in a special case. He added that the wife ought to like it, particularly if she was setting toward the age at which a woman sometimes is designated an "old hen."

Charles E. Watkins, a clerk, was arraigned on the complaint of his wife, Anna Watkins, that he had called her "vile names," among them "some chicken." Judge Hogan dismissed the case.

EXPECT PRESTON TO WIN AT BALTIMORE

Authorities Think Democratic Candidate Will Today Be Re-elected Mayor.

BALTIMORE, May 4.—Baltimore is electing a mayor and new city council today and despite unfavorable weather a heavy vote is being cast. Interest centers in the mayoralty contest. The present mayor, James H. Preston, is standing for re-election on the Democratic ticket, while Charles Heintzeman, formerly a member of the city council, is running on the Republican ticket. Both sides are claiming an advantage by reason of the heavy vote. Local political forecasters claim that Preston is sure to win and that it is only a question as to his majority.

The election is being conducted quietly. Up to noon no trouble had been reported from the polling places. The mayoralty fight between Preston and Heintzeman has been pretty warm. Heintzeman appealed to the working class and was not at all chary in his promises. He practically declared that if elected he would stop spending money for the city and would materially reduce the tax rate. He also promised free water and several other things, which meant that if chosen as the city's chief executive improvements and progress in the city would stop.

Preston, on the other hand, asked re-election solely on the fact that under his administration the city had made progress in the city council. This was and is still opposed by Mayor Preston. The open Sunday question did not occupy so important a place in the campaign, however, as did the question of property assessments and water rates.

This Is Tea and Coffee Week at Our Stores

We direct your attention this week to our Teas and Coffees. We are rapidly proving the falsity of that old tradition that good teas and coffees could not be secured in a retail grocery store. Considering the fact that every dealer, including importer and jobber, and retail grocer figured on making a big, fat profit on teas (the grocer figuring usually to double his money), it is no wonder that the consuming public got the fixed idea that nothing real good in teas and coffees could ever be secured in the retail grocery stores.

We Are Rapidly Changing the Ideas of Our Patrons
 In regard to Teas and Coffees. Each week we add scores of our patrons to the list of those buying our Teas and Coffees. The great success of our

"Green Bag" Special Coffee
